

Nsobe Trust Community School, Zambia

Teacher Aid Support Fund

Sponsor a child, uplift a family

But sponsor a teacher and you will uplift a Community

Nsobe Trust School is an African school with a difference. Living in a country with a dire rural education system, Fiona Tomlinson believes in offering not only education in the 3 R's but also in health and social matters, life skills, and most importantly a quality, Christian based education with employment opportunity.

In Rural Zambia there are not enough schools. There was no school accessible to the children in this area of the Copperbelt. Ninety percent of the children's parents are illiterate and live way below the poverty line. To offer hope and the chance of an educated future Nsobe Trust School was started in 2009 by Fiona Tomlinson, who with her husband runs Nsobe Game Camp near Ndola. Having started with a few pupils there are now 260 in 9 Grades, from Reception to Grade 8, taught by a great Head and 12 dedicated teachers for whom we are asking you to help pay a small wage. There is a daily feeding scheme.

Fiona's vision is to grow a Grade a year until reaching Grade 12 (the GCSE level) and then create a natural resources college where students can learn agricultural, wildlife management and tourism disciplines. The college will also teach theory in IT, HR, Business Admin and Christian morals. Graduates will then be placed in private sector projects and will be able to create and manage their own rural projects, providing much needed natural resources development and wealth and job creation in a land that could feed Africa.

If you feel that you can help us, please donate whatever you are able to. Every little helps! Teacher Aid guarantees that 100% of your money will go directly to Nsobe Trust School.

Nothing is deducted for administration! The school is one of very few in Zambia offering a total and extended private education to very poor children.

More information about Fiona and the school can be found on our website www.teacheraid.org.uk. NTS is hugely successful and the standard is far beyond that of the State Sector, where in many rural areas Teacher Absenteeism is 45% and many kids leave primary school unable to read and write!

We, Teacher Aid Trustees, endeavour to keep our supporters up to date through our website and through newsletters. If you have any questions regarding the charity please don't hesitate to contact us at any time. Maggie has lots of information on Nsobe Game Camp and School so tel. 07974 809048 or email magbeecher@teacheraid.co.uk

Please complete and send to your bank, or scan and return, the attached standing order mandate. It would help if you would make payments from the 1st of each month and return to us the confirmation slip below. You will never be approached to increase your donations.
